Projects

1. Calculator App Project: This project uses HTML, CSS, and Javascript concepts like variables, functions, conditionals, DOM manipulation, and Event handlers to build an interactive calculator.

2. To-do List: This project uses HTML, CSS, and Javascript concepts like variables, arrays, array methods, DOM manipulation, Form handling, and functions. The code allows the creation of an interactive to-do list with features like random background color change, task completion toggling, and item deletion.

3. Guess My Number: Javascript concepts used are variables, arrays, functions, and random number generation. The game gives hints to the user whether the input is too low, too high, or 5 units within the random number for the user to guess the random number.

4. Color Flipper: Created with HTML, CSS and the script generates a random hex color when the button is clicked and updates the background color of the page.
